

The Georgetown South Project will provide infrastructure improvements to meet existing GO Transit ridership demand and future growth. It will also accommodate the new Air Rail Link service between Union Station and Pearson International Airport.

Central Bridges Construction

What We Are Doing

The bridges over Black Creek, Black Creek Drive, Eglinton Avenue and Ray Avenue will be widened by installing new bridge spans to accommodate additional tracks. These new tracks are required to expand service on GO Transit's Georgetown South line, including the new Air Rail Link. The bridge work will be split into two phases, and the entire work project is expected to be completed by summer 2014.

How Will This Impact You?

Construction work at each bridge will largely involve widening piers and abutments to accommodate spans for 3 additional tracks.

- This is routine construction work, with regular construction noise from trucks, cranes and construction equipment
- Any partial or full road closures will be communicated as far in advance as possible
- We will work to maintain pedestrian access at all times
- Work will take place during regular construction hours from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. weekdays; however, if necessary, work outside these hours will be communicated in advance
- Noise and vibration will be monitored during construction

Construction Phase One: Black Creek and Black Creek Drive
