

GEORGETOWN SOUTH PROJECT CONSTRUCTION UPDATE

The Georgetown South (GTS) Project will provide infrastructure improvements to meet existing GO Transit ridership demand and future growth. It will also accommodate the new Air Rail Link service between Union Station and Pearson International Airport.

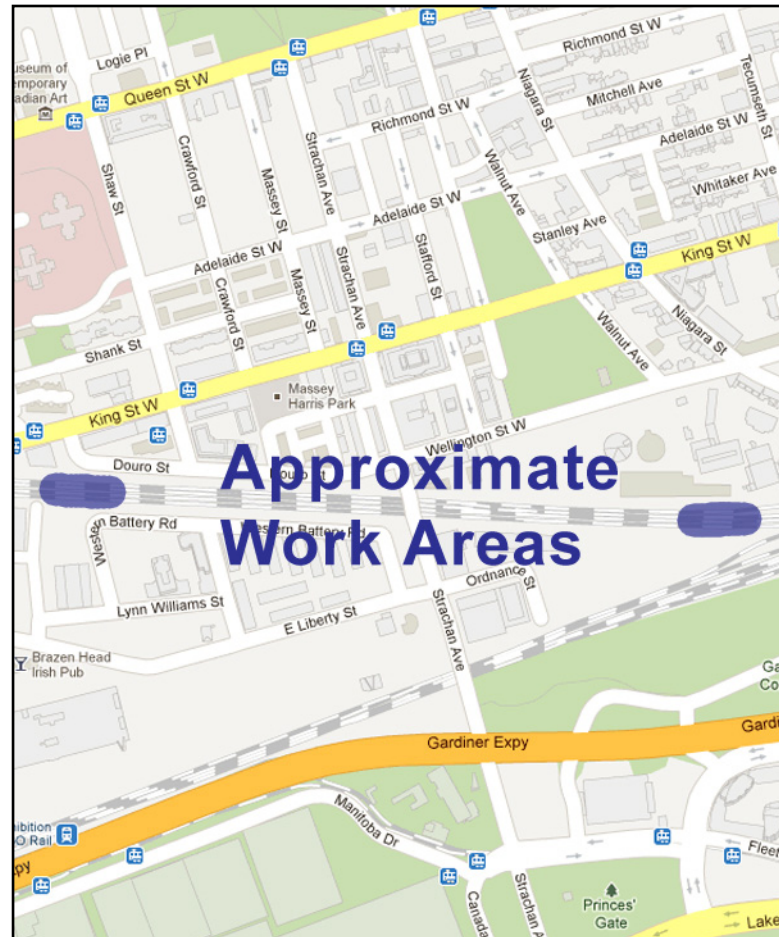

Strachan Avenue Overpass – Upcoming Weekend Work

What we are doing

- There will be overnight and weekend work from 8:00 p.m. on Friday, January 20 to 5:00 p.m. on Sunday, January 22
- Similar work will take place the following two weekends from Friday, January 27 to Sunday, January 29 and Friday, February 3 to Sunday, February 5
- To enable train service to be maintained during the construction of the overpass, GO operations will be shifted to the south side of the corridor
- This will require construction of a new track and relocation of the two existing south tracks
- The work planned during the next three weekends will involve connecting these tracks to the existing tracks in the areas shown on the map

How this will affect you

- Overnight Friday, there will be typical construction equipment working in the highlighted areas – for example, dump trucks, front-end loaders and excavators
- During the day on Saturday, track surfacing equipment will be working the entire length of the corridor between the two areas
- Overnight Saturday, there will be testing of track signals which will include triggering of the crossing arms
- Sunday will involve adjustment and clean-up work
- All of the construction will be within the rail corridor, but there will be times when equipment will need to cross Strachan Avenue or occupy part of the road
 - There will be traffic control personnel on site to direct traffic during these brief restrictions
- We do not expect noise or vibration to exceed normal construction levels and we will be monitoring at all times during the work
